What is neoliberalism?

Neoliberalism is a set of beliefs that emphasizes the free market, deregulation, and privatization. Neoliberal policies have been implemented in many countries around the world, including the United States, the United Kingdom, and Canada.

Neoliberalism is based on the idea that the free market is the best way to allocate resources and create wealth. Neoliberals believe that government intervention in the economy should be limited to protecting property rights and enforcing contracts. They also believe that privatization is the best way to improve the efficiency of public services.

Neoliberalism has led to increased inequality. The gap between the rich and the poor has widened in many countries around the world. Neoliberal policies have also led to a decline in the middle class.

Neoliberalism has also led to social injustice. Neoliberal policies have made it more difficult for people to access essential services such as healthcare and education. They have also led to an increase in homelessness and poverty.
