About the Book

Tibet On Fire: Self Immolations Against Chinese Rule is a book that documents the self-immolations of Tibetans in protest against Chinese rule. The book contains firsthand accounts from Tibetans who have self-immolated, as well as from their families and friends. It also provides a historical context for the self-immolations, and discusses the political and social factors that have led to them.

The book is a powerful indictment of Chinese rule in Tibet, and it sheds light on one of the most pressing human rights issues of our time.

The Author

The author of Tibet On Fire is Tsering Woeser, a Tibetan poet and essayist. Woeser has been a vocal critic of Chinese rule in Tibet, and her work has been banned in China. She has also been subjected to harassment and intimidation by the Chinese authorities.

Woeser's book is a powerful and moving account of the self-immolations in Tibet. It is a must-read for anyone who wants to understand the human rights situation in Tibet, and the ongoing struggle for Tibetan independence.
